

apple on a plate in process: a paint-write in 3 parts abc

© Michael L. Angelotti

Part 2. Looking at the Picture: Process, Sketch and Reach: a class demo prompts a paint then write . . . free imaging spontaneously suggested by the phrase apple on a plate using magic markers on a 20 x 24 lecturer's pad . . . black on white first to make a free form not pre-thought quick draw single line something apple-esque near center looping around plate-ish continuously running . . . reckless doodling all over the surface . . . even itself . . . giving the marker its own mind touching all page parts . . . screeching to a halt . . . sketch done . . . maybe the paint too . . . or reaching more flow . . . form and meaning . . . shapes within shapes . . . mind discovering . . . mind unknown . . . life past . . . life now . . . life to be . . . life never . . . life in color . . . mind pictures . . . charcoal noir love joy tears pain . . . shapes shifting . . . shaping color orange red green blue luscious sweet meat red apple number 9 orange caped green figure straight down.